BENEFITS OF UFP

- If you don't meet the entry requirements to go to a UK or US university directly, undergraduate preparation or foundation courses can help you reach the level needed for a bachelor's degree. You're guaranteed a place at university when you pass your course at the required level with good attendance
- Gain the study skills, English language ability and subject knowledge you'll need for university study. Students who have taken a preparation course often feel more prepared for their university studies than direct entry students.
- Small class sizes and dedicated teachers that will help you develop, both academically and personally
- International study is a great way to experience another culture. A foundation course will help you adjust to the challenges of living and studying abroad.
